HACKER RESIGNS AS SECRETARY

Popular and Efficient Secretary of Commercial Club Hands In Resignation

WILL TAKE UP NEW WORK

The first meeting of the newly-elected Board of Directors of the Paris Commercial Club was held Monday night in the office of the Peoples Deposit Bank & Trust Co., when the organization of the Board was completed and plans for the year's activities were discussed. Edward H. Gorey, the retiring president of the organization, presided at the opening, and later turned over the gavel to the new president, M. Peale Collier.

Mr. Gorey urged the directors to continue the efforts made during the past year toward effecting a solution of the water supply question, which had caused much concern to the general public for several years. Clarence K. Thomas was re-elected treasurer. Bernard J. Samson was elected Director of Organization Affairs, and Lee Price was elected to fill the vacancy on the Board of Directors caused by the resignation of N. Ford Brent.

William E. Hacker, who has served the organization as secretary-manager since October 1, 1920, tendered his resignation, stating that he intended to enter the work of organizing Chambers of Commerce at an early date. The resignation was reluctantly accepted, in view of Mr. Hacker's splendid work for the Club, and a committee composed of Wm. O. Hinton, John F. Davis and Dr. M. H. Dailey was appointed to recommend a secretary to succeed Mr. Hacker.

A plan for a community chest, the carrying out of the soldiers memorial project, incorporation of the organization, the itinerant merchant question, and other matters of importance were discussed.

J. Withers Davis, Wm. O. Hinton and H. M. Collins were appointed a committee to meet with representatives of the Legislature in regard to legislation dealing with the itinerant merchant problem.

The new Board of Directors is composed of M. Peale Collier, J. Withers Davis, Clarence K. Thomas, W. O. Hinton, Dr. M. H. Dailey, E. H. Gorey, Bernard J. Samson, James M. Caldwell, John F. Davis, Catesby W. Spears, W. W. Mitchell, Rudolph Davis and Lee Price.

ANTI-RACE BILL BEING FOUGHT

Congressmen and Newspaper Men Fight Bill Designed to Suppress Information On Races

SENATOR STANLEY SPEAKER

Opposition of newspapers to enactment of proposed anti-gambling legislation which would prohibit publication of racing odds and other data which could be used in betting, was voiced before a Senate judiciary subcommittee at Washington, by S. E. Thomason, general manager of the Chicago Tribune, and a representative committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association; Elbert H. Baker, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; W. F. Wiley, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and R. R. McCormick, of the Chicago Tribune.

H. N. Pringle, of the National Reform Bureau, and the Rev. William S. Case, of Brooklyn, were among those who spoke in support of the proposed legislation. The legislation is proposed in a rider to the postal bill which has passed the Senate, and in a bill introduced by Senator Thomas Sterling, Republican, of South Dakota.

While not especially authorized by the 550 newspapers comprising his association to speak for them, Mr. Thompson stated that he submitted to practically all the larger newspapers a summarization of his statement, and that all except one supported his position.

Senator A. O. Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, introducing the press representatives, asserted that the legislation was designed "not to prevent racing, but to limit the freedom of speech by placing arbitrary restrictions not upon tracks, but upon the press."

He said that "to directly and arbitrarily limit freedom of speech in order to possibly and indirectly reach some local violations of law, such as wagers upon a track, is essentially vicious and indefensible."

The Senator predicted that no enlightened legislative body would enact such restrictions. The States, and not the Federal Government, should regulate the "merits of the people," he said, and characterized as a "legislative itch" the tendency of Congress to regulate all activities of the people. He asserted he abhorred gambling in all forms, but opposed legislation which would place a censorship upon the press.

The proposed legislation, Senator Stanley asserted, if enacted into law, would prohibit the circulation in this country of newspapers issued under the severe and drastic censorship of the autocracies of Europe. He condemned what he termed "half baked legislation," and said that "neither the minds nor the stomachs of a free people are prepared to endure such a bill," adding that he "wished to emphasize its evils in order that this character of legislation may be discouraged."

BURGLARS BUSY AGAIN

After a temporary lull, in which time it is supposed they had been resting up during or after the holidays the festive burglar has resumed his night operations, the store of the Piggly-Wiggly Co., and the W. S. Dale restaurant, in the same vicinity, having been visited the same night.

On Tuesday night burglars effected an entrance to the Piggly-Wiggly store by prizing out two iron bars, and breaking a glass in the rear window. The aperture thus made was very small, but large enough to admit a small person. The burglar knocked the knob of the combination off with a hammer, and forcing the doors of the safe, secured the contents, about $177 in cash and a number of checks. Their work was done so silently that no one in the vicinity heard a sound and knew nothing of the robbery until next morning. The safe is the same one that was used in the Lexington store of the Piggly-Wiggly, and was blown by yeggmen, after it had been removed from the store. The safe had been repaired and sent to the Paris store. Payment on the stolen checks was promptly stopped. So far as could be ascertained nothing was taken from the stock in the store. The police were notified and are working on the case.

On the same night the restaurant of Wm. S. Dale, a few doors above the Piggly-Wiggly store was visited, possibly by the same parties, but they were frightened away before they had a chance to effect an entrance to the place. Mr. Dale called the police and Sheriff Collier, who conducted an investigation, but could make no progress on account of having no tangible clues to work on.
